

criticalstrategicsolutions the entrepreneur and business management centre

Transactional Risk Management

This course will focus on analyzing a company's ability to face and react to transactional and operational risks. These risks can include competitive advantage risks, risks to potential investors and partners, and an overview of business and legal risks commonly encountered in domestic and international ventures.